Accessing support materials

While a small selection of support materials are freely available to clients of Australia's VET system, the majority of materials are developed by private publishing companies and offered commercially to learners, trainers and assessors.

When looking for support materials, the following are a good place to start:

- Australian Government websites
- State and territory government websites

- Private publishing companies
- Registered training organisations (RTOs)
- Skills Service Organisations (SSOs).

VETNet

VETNet is the Australian Government's central storage facility for materials relating to the VET system. Training package companion volumes, which provide implementation guidance to assist RTOs interpret and understand training packages, can be freely downloaded from VETNet.

My Skills

The My Skills website is the national directory of VET courses and training providers. The website's resources page includes a selection of information products and communication resources that can be freely downloaded and used to promote VET and Australian Apprenticeship pathways, including videos, posters, podcasts, logos and the real skills for real careers tagline.

Skills Service Organisations

Some SSOs develop support materials and market them commercially online, while others offer links to organisations that develop materials in specific industry areas. Some plan to develop materials for training packages in the future.
